Work-Life Shuffle	How do you maintain balance while juggling the daily stresses of life to include career, family, health, friends, and more? Discuss best practices and share ideas about ways to build balance into your life.
Wellness for a Lifetime	How do you maintain good health and fitness through all phases of life - especially when dealing with stress, extensive travel, physical limitations, family constraints, and/or time challenges? Discuss best practices and share ideas about ways to build a lifestyle of wellness.
Relationship Building vs. Networking: The Woo-Woo Matters	Some imagine the process of networking as feeling cold, transactional, and singular in nature. This often happens with the attitude, “what’s in it for me” and a sense that it’s about one person. However, the Woo-Woo as it relates to Relationship and Community Building is about intention, investment of time, effort, and energy, authenticity, and commitment. This discussion will talk through five traits to support relationship building and how when you put them into practice it leads to transformative results both personally and professionally.
The Six Triple Eight All Black, Woman Army Corps Battalion -	Understand the significance and historical perspective of this unit that made significant contributions during World War II and is now being celebrated in a Broadway Musical.
Mentoring for Impact	The benefits of mentoring are widely accepted. Research shows how mentoring is a key factor and contributes to professional success, yet mentoring is an art that may look different for everybody. How do you find a good mentor? How can you be an impactful mentor? Discuss best practices and nuances of mentoring that make it as beneficial as possible.
Financial Preparedness	When life shifts or the unexpected happens, consider how to be ready with the financial freedom you want – regardless of your stage of life. How do you develop a plan to stay on track for the financial life you want?
Sexual Assault - Survivorship and Advocacy	Connect to discuss some of the issues and resources available to survivors and advocates of sexual assault.
